Q1a

No, it is impossible that a null value for A but a non-null value for D.

Let s natural left outer join t be relations u(B,C,D).

When r natural left outer join u, note that r(A,B), so they will nature join based on B. So no matter what happens, A will never be null in the new table.